A few years later, by 1866, Richard Temple published the first official Gazetteer of the Bhandara District of the central province. This set the pace and there appeared a number of Gazetteer volumes for the various parts of the country. For the princely state of Mysore and Coorg, B.L. Rice published three volumes in 1877-78.

The typical gazetteer is a treasure house of data. Fifty years after the Battle of Plassey the East India Company saw the need to learn about the land it had acquired in the subcontinent of Asia. In a Despatch of 1807 are these words: "We are of opinion that a Statistical Survey of the country would be attended with much utility, we therefore recommend proper steps to be taken for the execution of the same."
