BE A LEADER is the second book by Tina Black, a rising star in the world of high-end training and performance systems. Her friend and mentor, John Paul DeJoria, the co-founder and CEO of John Paul Mitchell Systems writes the foreword of this book and captures its essence by stating "Leadership doesn't just happen, it takes time, tools and commitment. If you use the tools in this book, and commit to your growth as a leader, you will surely reach your goal."Tina's secret to massive growth was realizing and acting on the idea that "transformation begins in me." This simple, but powerful epiphany caused her to start asking questions. It is these questions that will propel you to action and move you forward.This book is the blueprint she used to realize her goals of growth and change. Now, she is traveling the world sharing her insights on how to become a true leader in your world.Everything rises and falls on leadership. If you want to rise in life and business, you must be a leader, and embrace the idea that your "transformation begins in you "

In my opinion, unless you're a total introvert, agoraphobic, disabled or too lazy to leave the house, your best bet to buy most things you need is locally. Go to the Yellow Pages, read your local newspapers, drive around the shopping areas, go to local free ad websites and talk to people you know about what you need. I generally buy most of my stuff from the big department stores but if I need something like furniture, I'll check out the furniture stores on the poor side of the town because the prices for the same goods are often much cheaper than a store in the higher class part of town plus you can often haggle with the owner on a cash deal. By shopping on the poor side of town at supermarkets for food, you can often save several dollars on a load of groceries. Beyond that, I generally go to the thrift stores a few times a year to buy t-shirts, clothes and anything else that strikes my fancy as I look around.

The modern law of defamation is frequently criticised for being outdated,obscure and even incomprehensible. The Making of the Modern Law of Defamation explains how and why the law has come to be as it is by offering an historical analysis of its development from the seventeenth century to the present day. Whilst the primary focus of the book is the law of England, it also makes extensive use of comparative common law materials from jurisdictions such as Australia, South Africa, the United States and Scotland. This book will be essential reading for anyone interested in the law of defamation, in media law and in the relationship between free speech and the law.
